SGI is a highly experienced building company specialising in the design and construction of structural steel buildings.

Since its establishment in 1983 SGI has continued to develop and evolve separating itself from competition by reaching beyond the limitations and services of more traditional companies in its field.

Gathering more than 30 years experience in the structural steel building industry our reputation has been built on listening and communicating with our clients, delivering relevant solutions and creating ongoing relationships.

SGI continues to be a major shed & garage manufacturer, supplier and builder on the Sunshine Coast and surrounding region offering the highest quality products and contractors available within the industry.

In 2008 SGI was acquired by Jeremy Hunter the director and principal structural engineer of Accord Designs which allowed the integration and collaboration of structural design and construction. Jeremy is a Qld registered professional engineer (RPEQ #1420) and holds chartered status and national registration with the Institute of Engineers Australia (CP Eng. #171707). Jeremy has specialised in the creative and functional design of structural steel systems since 1995 and SGI has been utilising these systems since 1996. The combined structural engineering design and construction expertise offers true customised design solutions to suit your needs.

SGI understands communication plays a vital role throughout the whole building process not only with contractors and suppliers but with our clients as well. With this in mind we have a dedicated client service manager in place to keep you informed about the progress of your project and answer any questions you may have.

SGI prides itself on professionalism and quality in all areas. In order to maintain the high standards we expect, careful selection is taken of our builders, contractors and tradespeople.

When one of our contractors arrives on site you can be assured they are highly experienced professionals who take pride in their work. All our contractors are fully qualified, insured and compliant with current Work Place Health & Safety regulations.

SGI is committed to delivering quality projects to our clients. Our objective is to understand your needs and requirements and provide solutions to suit in the most efficient and productive manner through the integrated services we offer.

RESIDENTIAL HOUSING

SGL has successfully delivered a wide variety of residential projects working closely with owner builders, builders and architects who realise the benefits of pre-fabricated building systems to suit specialised designs. We believe that the construction site should be more a place of assembly while the fabrication of components is taken place in the controlled environment of a factory where they can be delivered to site ready for rapid on-site assembly.

SGL utilises 5D (BIM) Building Information Modelling providing 3D structural models which can be viewed by all relevant parties including key contractors. This technology is used on-site through the use of tablets and laptops so key contractors are always up to date with the latest models and information concerning each project.

Designing with style. Building with steel.

SHEDS, GARAGES & CARPORTS

SGL has been building sheds, garages and carports on the Sunshine Coast and surrounding areas for more than 30 years. We are proud of the fact that a large percentage of new projects are referred to us by previous clients or are previous clients returning for a new product or looking to extend their first.

We stand by the fact that to produce a quality building of any shape or size quality is essential in 3 main areas...

- Structural design and integrity (specialised in-house engineering)
- Quality of all building materials (genuine Australian steel and Colorbond)
- Construction workmanship (Professional builders and contractors)

Our in-house design and engineering service allows for creative, functional and cost effective solutions.

SGI is a company focused on compliance with all Workplace Health and Safety regulations and have employed the services of a WH&S professional consultant to ensure our company is continually up to date with the latest practices in this field.
